Teaching of Arabic Language in Assam : A Historical Study

Dr. Azmal Hoque*

Introduction:

With the advent of Islam in India, arrangement of Arabic learning began through Maktabs and Madrasas were the elementary schools which were located in the Mosque premises and the saintly establishments – the Darghas and Khanqahs of defferent orders and individuals. Arabic has been used in India almost exclusively by its Muslim population, and has been a key force in delineating and shaping Indian muslim identity. This is not surprising, for it is generally acknowledged that the Arabic language has a predominantly sacred character outside the Arabic speaking Middle East. A through study of Indian history suggests that India's first substantial contact with the Arabic language came when the Arab Muslims settled in the western Indian province of Sind. Subsequently, the Arabic language continued to flourish further under the patronage of the Mughal rulers in India. India has very old links with the Arab world. For the hundreds of years starting in the 11th century, large parts of northern India were ruled by dynasties with roots in that part of the world, the language of the Mughal court was Persian, and so on. This is well-known, as is

Abstract:

The ancient name of Assam was Pragjyotish. Its antiquity can be established from fact that it has been mentioned in the two great epics- The Mahabharata and the Ramayana and also in the Puranas. Regarding the name 'Pragjyotisha' or 'Pragjyotishpura', Gait (1992, reprint) writes that Prag means 'former' or 'eastern' and Jyotisha 'a star', astrology, shining. Pragjyotishpur may, therefore, be taken to mean the 'City of Eastern Astrology'. Since ancient times the rulers fixed the boundaries of their kingdoms on the basis of natural features like rivers, hills, forest, etc. Rivers acted as natural boundaries between two principalities in a majority of cases. According to the Yoginitantra, the boundary of the country during ancient times, comprised the whole of the Brahmaputra (Lauhitya) Valley, Rangpur and Cooch Behar. The country was divided into four portions, viz., Kampith from the river Karotoya to the Sankosh, Ratnapith from the river Sankosh to the Rupahi, Suvarnapith from the river Rupahi to the Bharali and Saumarpith from the river Bharali to the Dikrang.

The status of women in North East India

✉ Dr. Anowar Hussain*

In human Society, each individual can utilize his or her own thoughts and ideas that is considered to be the basic human right of an individual. But it is a matter of irony that in reality each one of us hardly gets any opportunity to display our own individual ideas. Especially the women the most vulnerable sections of society are often being sidelined from taking any important decision. Another very important of this point is that women themselves are still ignorant about their own rights and policy formulated especially for them. Since of late modern women has become very conscious of their rights, and empowering the women as a whole has become a new motto of the world around.

The stereotype notion of woman being inferior to men still exists as is clearly seen in the traditional idea of women being confined to domestic domain only. Women are barred from performing various rituals even if it is to do for their own good. The male supremacy overrides female in almost all important sphere be it in home where women is taken as king of the kitchen theoretically but it is not so in the practical terms . Even in the Juncture women are governed by certain male dominance. For instance , being the king or queen of the kitchen, She is not free

INTRODUCTION

Kokrajhar district which is under Bodoland area of Assam is endowed with myriad of Rivers, Forests, beels and natural beauty. Bodoland, officially the Bodoland Territorial Area District (BTAD) presently known as Bodoland Territorial Region (BTR) consisting of areas located in the extreme North on the North bank of Brahmaputra river within the state of Assam, in the North East region in India by the foothills of Bhutan and Arunachal Pradesh. The region is predominantly inhabited by the indigenous Bodo people. The official map of Bodoland include four districts (kokrajhar, Baksa, Chirang, Udalguri) of BTAD recognized by the Government of India. The region is also the gateway to the North-Eastern region of India. It is currently an autonomous administrative unit consisted under the 6th schedule of the constitution of India.

Diplai Beel is a large natural wetland covering an area of 4.14sq km. It is the state's first bird sanctuary having varieties of local birds as well as migratory one can be seen. This lake is situated 22 k.m. from Kokrajhar town on the southern side and the western side of the lake is surrounded by Boro, Rava and Garo community and on the North-Eastern side is surrounded by hills with forest where golden languor can be seen. Diplai beel has 3301 bighas of land and in this lake variety of fishes are found like Magur, Singhi, Row, Borali etc. because Diplai Beel is existed full of water for the whole season. Before 2005 Diplai Beel was under the govt. and tendered for selling fishes by a contractor and during that time a local youth club Bhaodia had maintained till 2009.<sup>1</sup> The Diplai Beel has a history with a beautiful proverb that there was a Choudagar in the ancient time and he had two wives namely Dhir and Diplai. But between two wives always zealous with each others. So the Choudagar had separated them to stay within the two hills side where still Dhir and Diplai are existing. There was also a proverb that one who wanted helps from Diplai he or she used to get it and in return to give something to her. The BTC Administration has taken stapes to preserve Diplai Beel without harming its ecology and environment by renovating the existing tourist park with financial support from the District Rural Development Agency (DRDA). It is a gift of nature to us. It has a beauty of its own, surrounded by the hills. More facilities like- boating can attract more tourist from other parts of the country and even outside. During the study period various kinds of fishes are found in the beel. The information about their occurrence was collected from the local fisher of the Beel. It is also known that different species of birds, including migratory ones flock to the Beel every year.

After the formation of BTC, Government has take steps for development of Diplai Beel as Eco Tourism place. In a bid to boost Eco Tourism in the BTC area, the development of Forests and Environment, BTC has taken up several projects for the

Introduction:

Arabic poetry has a vital role in the field of Arabic Literature in Pre-Islamic period. Arabic literature began planting its seeds in Arabian soil two hundred years before the advent of Islam. Arabic literature sprang into existence with an outburst of poetry. Arabic poetry has been recognized as register of Arabs and a mirror of Arabian life. Poetry is the greatest source of Arabic Knowledge and the most delightful part of Arabic literature. Literature is a mirror of life or nation. Poetry is a form of literature in which all aspects of the society reflected. Arabic poetry has been recognized as a "Records of Arabs" a resort in times of sorrow and happiness, defeat and victory. A social change to certain extent is influenced by the

1. Introduction

Assam is the meeting ground of diverse cultures. The people of the enchanting state of Assam are an intermixture of various racial stocks such as Mongoloid, Indo-Burmese, Indo-Iranian and Aryan. The Assamese culture is a rich and exotic tapestry of all these races evolved through a long assimilative process. The natives of the state of Assam are known as "Asomiya" (Assamese), which is also the

FUNDAMENTALISM AND NATIONALISM: FOCUS ON HUMAN RIGHTS OF MUSLIMS

ABSTRACT:

The present chapter was conducted to an unexplored the fundamentalism and nationalism. The present paper has broad in to light some interesting fact and a significant relationship existing between fundamentalism and nationalism of the investigated; its focus on human rights among the Muslims in Assam state. The findings of this present chapter revealed that the fundamentalist beliefs depend on the twin doctrines that their God or Gods articulated their will clearly to prophets, and that followers also have an accurate and reliable record of that revelation. In the above cases, Islamic fundamentalism represents a conservative religious belief, as opposed to liberal movements within fundamentalism. While there is significant debate over the historical origins of nations, nearly all specialists accept that nationalism, at least as an ideology and social movement is a modern phenomenon originating in India. Therefore, human rights, as commonly understood are the rights that every human being is entitled to enjoy freely irrespective of his religion, race, caste, sex and nationality etc. Besides, human rights are those rights that pertain to legal rights. In this chapter, researcher wants to discuss impact of modern education in fundamentalism and nationalism.

KEY WORDS: Fundamentalism, Nationalism, Human Rights, Muslims, Articulated, Ideology etc.

INTRODUCTION:

Fundamentalism refers to a "deep and totalistic commitment" to a belief in, and strict adherence to a set of basic principles or often religious in nature, a reaction to perceived doctrinal compromises with modern social and political life. The term 'Fundamentalism' was originally coined to describe a narrowly defined set of beliefs that developed into a movement within the protestant community of the United States in the early part of the twenty 20th century, and that had its roots in the Fundamentalist-Modernist controversy of that time. Until in 1950, there was no entry for Fundamentalism in the Oxford English Dictionary; the derivative Fundamentalist was added only in its second 1989 edition.

ABSTRACT:

The present chapter was conducted to many social philosophers have stress the need of unity of man and nature in relation to globalization. Challenges for sustainable development the major focus & issue facing the world today is that of learning how to live and work in ways that are sustainable, so that the reasonable needs of people from all walks of life and in all countries can be satisfied, without so overexploiting the natural resources upon which all life depends that the ability of future generations to meet their needs is threatened. In this chapter there is an urgent need to ameliorate the quality of school education rather than focus on the issue of sustainable development. Therefore, there is a need for sustainable development and globalization, today the most existing two words; an important part of the life cycle of the unit as innovation and matching the supply of skills with demand. As a result, individuals develop a deeper understanding of environmental issues and have the skills to make informed and responsible decisions; a sustainable society is one that can be sustained indefinitely while giving optimum satisfaction to its Individuals.

INTRODUCTION:

Many social philosophers have stressed the need of unity of man and nature. Sometimes, man is divorced from nature and consequently he invites various types of problems. Under such circumstances Rousseau has given us the slogan of "Go Back to Nature". The environment in which mills and factories are operated is, by the very nature of the mechanism of their organization, bound to be unhealthy. The dust, the smoke, the fire scattering of unhealthy and even poisonous matters in the free atmosphere, the fumes from the exhausts of petrol and diesel engines, the foul particles of tar and asphalt and other obnoxious substances are direct offspring of science. The dangerous atmospheric pollutions caused by scientific products of various categories are already causing headache to the thinking people all over the World. The fact is that science has definitely

ABSTRACT

An attempt has been made to study in details the concept of Panchayati Raj in Assam becomes a global phenomenon in the 21st century in Indian society. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject i.e. Gaon Sabha or Gaon Panchayat, Anchalik Panchayat, Zilla Parishad, local Authority, and Panchayat Raj Bodies, while reorganizing the Panchayat Raj System by the new Act the "Mahkuma Parishad" has been replaced by "Zilla Parishad". It shall extend to the whole of Assam in rural areas except the Autonomous District under the Sixth Schedule of the constitution of India and shall exclude any area which has been may be included in a Municipality or Town Committee under Act 1956. In this context of the understanding of the purpose of this theme is to find out remedial measures and to evaluate or to suggest other useful up to date goals that can be attempted in imparting knowledge for the benefit of the learners as a whole. In conclusion therefore, the Assam Panchayati Raj Act, 1994, have provided three tier Panchayati system (The Panchayat Raj system has a three-tier structure) as- Gaon Panchayat at the village level, Anchalik Panchayat at the Block level and Zilla Parishad at the District level for tenure of five years.

ABSTRACT

This chapter was decided that human rights are derived from the principle of natural law and in order to promote international growth as well as educational co-operation. They are neither derived from the social order nor conferred upon the individual by the society. Growth of universal human rights means the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Today, in the world; public opinion is the most potent factor of growth or in deciding about the peace or war. Therefore, human rights are the rights that a human being has in virtue of whatever characteristics he has that is both specifically and universally human. Accordingly the Government policies are directed towards economic and social upliftment of the hitherto neglected sections of the society so as to enable everyone to reap the benefits of Growth. Education is considered as the potential tool in the empowerment of the exclusive sections of our society. In this chapter main focus is the origin and development of human rights as well as growth the concept is the people centered development considering human beings as the ultimate resources for all-round management. As a result of the above, the system of education in India has witnessed an impressive growth since independence.

ABSTRACT

The purpose of the present chapter is to efforts for achieving quality, quantity, equality of opportunity with respect to nature of human rights. The important vital roles of the rights in the universal declaration of human rights were almost completely covered in the Indian Constitution either in Fundamental Rights or Directive Principles of State Policy. The concept of human rights is the natural consequence of man's desire to maintain a happy personal and social life based on mutual sacrifice, sharing, caring and respecting individual's dignity. Human rights are the basic rights available to any human being by virtue of his birth in human race. It is inherent in all human beings irrespective of their nationality, religion, language, sex, colour or any other consideration. Human rights are conferred on an individual due to the very nature of his existence. They are inherent in all individuals irrespective of their caste, creed, religion, sex and nationality. Human rights are conferred to an individual even after his death.

KEY WORDS: Nature, Human, Rights, Quality, Quantity and Declaration.

ABSTRACT

In the present day world, the sustainable development goals and human rights one of the achievements of the contemporary international law is to recognize human dignity and honour. The present quest for achieving sustainable development goals is a long scientific and technological expansion. This effort must collaborate their excellency with existing wisdom, values and experience of the indigenous people of different parts of the world. We may say that, human rights those right which are universal for every individual and which he is entitled to enjoy by virtue of any other consideration. This role consists typically in limiting the actions of governments and setting standards of legitimacy. Human rights are inherent, inalienable, interdependent, and indivisible. This means we have these rights no matter what, the enjoyment of one right affects the enjoyment of others, and every human right must be respected. We must give due respect to human rights and should always strive to adopt policies that are in the spirit of these notions. The purpose of this theme is to find out remedial measures and to evaluate or to suggest other useful up to date goals the (17th SDGs) that can be attempted in imparting knowledge for the benefit of the learners as a whole.

INTRODUCTION

Advent of Muslim population in Assam since long back is the important events in the history of Assamese culture and society. Broad Assamese society consists of Hindu, Muslim, Bengali, Christian, Jain, Buddhya, Miri, Aka, Dafala, Mech, Kachari, Borahi, Rabha, Mising etc. The Muslims after their arrival in Assam had embraced Assamese culture with a significant variations in their own culture, caste, class, language, occupation, geographical location and ideology etc. All these become the basic components of the formation of boarder Assamese society. Various Muslim invasions, propagation and conversion, import of Muslim Artisans and learned men by the Ahom Rulers, migration and immigrations etc. are the important factors working behind the growth of Muslim population in Assam.

The Muslims of Assam have been playing a very significant role in the formation of Assamese culture and economic development since their arrival. Being integrated by the various socio-economic and cultural factors, they are in spread over the length and breadth of the state; particularly in the riverine tracts of the Brahmaputra Valley.

The Muslims are the largest minority group in Assam with strength of 34.2% of the total population. The contemporary Assamese society is fundamentally turned into a multi-religious, multi-racial, multi-ethnic,

INTRODUCTION

Migration is a natural phenomenon. People migrates from one place to another place for various reasons. Migration in Assam is an old process since the British colonial rule. Immigration has been causing very serious problem in Assam since last more than four decades. Its impact are wide spread in each field of life including social, political, economic etc. Large scale legal and illegal migrants from erstwhile East-Bengal, East-Pakistan (Now Bangladesh) over several decades has been altering the demographic condition of the state. The indigenous people are bothered on the matter and has been agitating since dates back. According to them, it poses a gravel threat both to the identity of the Assamese people and to national security. As percentage of immigrated population increasing, it has been increasing anxiety among the local people in the sense of declining the number of Assamese people to a minority in their own state as happened in Tripura and Sikkim.

As per the literature, the state has been acutely facing the burning problems of immigration from neighboring countries Bhutan and Bangladesh. But, immigration especially from Bangladesh is suspected and raising problem due to the course of time that has remained unsolved. Therefore, it is of utmost important to find out the solution for the

Abstract

The novels of Mulk Raj Anand depict a realistic and sympathetic picture of the lower classes of people of his time in India focusing on how they suffer in their struggle of livelihood and how they are exploited by the upper class and well to do people in the society depriving them of their every prospect of opportunity. Mulk Raj Anand, is the founding father of the Indian novels in English. Anand is the novelist as reformer, Raja Rao the novelist as the metaphysical poet, R.K Narayan is simply the novelist as novelist". Among his contemporaries, Anand presents the reality of Indian life in his major works. He shows a real suffering, poverty, misery and injustice of common people of Indian society in his novels. He depicts the real image of exploitation of common people in the name of caste, class and gender. Moreover, Anand writes not only about the poor and their suffering but also the brutality and cruelty of the traditions especially in Hindu society which controls and deprives every individual from the harmonious development in the name of caste, sex and creed. We find a true Indian picture of social realities in his novels with special attention to the misery of the poor.

Introduction:

Mulk Raj Anand is the most distinguished prolific and committed 20th century Indo - Anglican literary figure. Today, he is widely acclaimed in India as well as abroad as a great novelist, essayist

CHAPTER-10

HUMAN RIGHTS AND POLITICAL STRUCTURE

*Dr. Idris Ali**

An attempt has been made to study in detail Human Rights and Political structure. From a deep study of the Part III and Part IV of the Indian Constitution, it is easily evident that almost all of the rights provided in the Universal Declaration on Human Rights are covered in these two parts. We must give due respect to human rights and the political structure of democracy and should always strive to adopt policies that are in the spirit of these notions. Therefore, to understand the deeper effects democracy has on human rights, we must consider real human rights issues facing present-day societies. Immigration, asylum-seekers, terrorism, excesses by state agencies, women's rights and child exploitation are some of the major issues in the contemporary world. We must consider each of these separately to get a broad view of the dynamics of human rights under the influence of democracy. In this context of understanding human rights and political structure, it is urgent to study human rights.

Human beings are rational beings. They under their being human possess certain basic and inalienable rights which are commonly known as human rights. Since these rights belong to them because of their very existence, they become operative with their birth. Human rights, being the birthright, are, therefore, inherent in all individuals irrespective of their caste, creed, religion, sex and nationality. These rights are essential for all individuals as they are consonant with their freedom and dignity and are conducive to physical, moral, social, and spiritual welfare. They are also necessary as they provide suitable conditions for the material and moral uplift of the people. Because of their immense significance to human beings, human rights are also

HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND ECONOMIC GROWTH

*Nurul Islam**

The key aim of this chapter is to discuss and compare these two paradigms and outline their elements of specificity as well as their potential linkages. In particular, a review of potential linkages between human development and economic growth highlights their directionality, both in theory and in terms of policy implications. The focus of economic growth is an increase in the production of economic goods and services in one period of time compared with a previous period. Economic growth can be defined as the increase or improvement in the inflation-adjusted market value of the goods and services produced by an economy. The present chapter is on the impact of economic growth the process by which a nation's wealth increases over time. Hence economic growth is the increase in the value of an economy's goods and services, which creates more profit for businesses. To the extent that greater freedom and capabilities improve economic performance, human development will have an important effect on growth. Similarly, to the extent that increased incomes will increase the range of choices and capabilities enjoyed by households and governments, economic growth will enhance human development. In conclusion, new technological programmes the importance of moulding the behaviour of the present people in perspective of the needs and aspirations of the future generation. This is the highest phase of human life. It is the key concept of our age, through an understanding of it we can influence change constructively, linking the social, cultural, spiritual, and economic with the physical and biological without jeopardizing the rich variety of life which has evolved during the world's history.

RIGHTS OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLE

*Nurjaman Hoque**

The present investigation is aimed at the role of the rights of indigenous people satisfaction as a problem of empowerment. The present chapter was conducted under the light of two socio-political of indigenous knowledge. The investigation is a normative survey method used. This chapter is an attempt to describe the major research carried out on land reform refers to efforts to reform the ownership and regulation of land in India. In the present study, the investigators decided to find out the role of indigenous knowledge in people's awareness in Assam. To promote harmony and the spirit of common brotherhood against all the indigenous people of India transcending religious, linguistic and regional or sectional diversities and to renounce practices derogatory to the dignity of people, and the main aim of the Declaration of the rights of indigenous peoples. It establishes a universal framework of minimum standards for the survival, dignity and well-being of the indigenous peoples of the world and it elaborates on existing human rights standards and fundamental freedom as they apply to the specific situation of indigenous peoples and to develop the scientific temper, humanism and the spirit of inquiry and reform. Some argue that the increased allocation of resources alone cannot take of the problems, as land reformed and land policy funds that are allocated for education are not being properly utilized.

Introduction

The story of the early man in India is largely shrouded in mystery. All indications point to the fact that primitive man was sunk in the darkness of ignorance and barbarism, and that he marched towards the light of

Economic Progress and Productivity

The history of development of countries of the world indicates that there has been close relationship between educational progress and economy. Economic development of a country goes side by side. The both types of development are complementary to each other and are also interdependent. The chapter was undertaken to investigate the economic progress and productivity. This chapter an on-going debate amongst researcher about the effects of once their children were educated they would turn away from their hereditary professions and would become unproductive for the family. The significant role played by in the system of economic progress and productivity in global society in India. The educational progress and economic development are the cause as well as result. The economic areas are generalized by education. Hence economic progress means increase in the net national income during a given period of time. Some economists take increase in per capita income as an indicator and a measure of economic progress.

Keywords: Economic. Progress, Productivity, Significant, Increase.

Introduction:

The life of an individual is greatly moulded by the society in which he lives. Economic bring social change. But social change is vitally linked with economic change. The lack of economic change results in conservatism and an education which does not promote economic change very often fails to social change. The village community was having the same economic order from generation to generation and hence whatever education was provided, that was for the promotion of traditionalism, conservatism, orthodoxy and superstitions. Therefore, the society becomes static and the social order degenerative. There is little progress without education; there is little education with poverty.

In India, this concept was prevailing with much rigidity and force. Its many adherents can still be found in every walk of life and in every community. The businessmen, the peasant, the carpenter, the sweeper, the priest all had been and could still be found to decry education because of their feeling that once their children were educated they would turn away from their hereditary professions and would become unproductive for the family. This concept had always stood stumbling-back in the educational progress of the country and, therefore, it needed a clear-cut reversal. In the present times no nation can think of economic development without ensuring an abundant supply of highly educated and skilled people. The recent technology and scientific advancement, the man's conquest over the forces of nature, the invention of rapid means of

This chapter was exploratory, descriptive and diagnostic in nature with special reference to North-east besides being a place of breath taking landscapes is rich in culture and heritage. The present investigator has elaborated the rich culture and its diversity of North-east India. The present quest for achieving culture's development goals is a long scientific and technological expansion in north-east with special reference to Assam also. This role consists typically in limiting the actions of early river Valley civilization with special reference to social conditions, religion, art, music, traditions and architecture, invention etc. Indian culture has passed through a continuous process of development throughout history and has been growing. Issues and challenges of implementing value development of the social reform movement contributed a great deal to the growth of a new Hindu as well as Indian society. Therefore, the history and course of social reform movement in the 21st century is marked by the coming into existence of a number of social organisations both at all India and provisional levels. Hence unity in diversity is the main foundation of Indian culture throughout the ages. The Indian culture is one of the oldest cultures in the present day world. It is the culture of the masses. As the river fall into the sea, and the sea continues to be the sea, so the different cultures fall or merge into the great culture of India which retains its identity and distinctiveness all through. It is heartening to note that a unity underlines the diversity in India. For underdeveloped countries it is education alone which provides for the solution of their problems arising out of their backwardness.

Introduction:

The Indian society is composed of different races, cultures, religions and faiths. Seemingly, it is a society with many-sided diversities. However, the main trait of this society is not diversity. The diversity is superficial, the unity is integral. One can notice the diversity anywhere and everywhere. Indian culture has a long history. In the course of time they were enriched but only in a few respects they were completely transformed. Education is required to perform the functions of transmission, fulfillment and enrichment, acceptance and reformulations, changes and reconstruction etc. The characteristic mark of an educated man should be a positive attitude towards the goods of culture, that is, towards the ultimate objective values. That attitude should

ABSTRACT

The study was undertaken to investigate the involvement issues and challenges of inclusive or inclusion in education involves. This chapter is concerned with the challenge of enhancing inclusive education in our north-east India. In this chapter we focus on inclusive education in developed and developing areas refer to the broad global differences in economic and political status. Hence, inclusion which expresses commitment to educate each child, to the maximum extent appropriate, in the school and classroom he or she would otherwise attend. The aim of this chapter is to highlight the state of special needs education with specific reference to inclusive education. It is hoped that this chapter will not only generate discussion but also interest that will lead to the development of the right spirit for the promotion of effective inclusive education that will result in education for all on equal basis. However a knowledgeable approach and positive attitudes on the parts of the parents and teachers proves vital to triumphing over any obstacles which may emerge. Therefore, it is described by some as the practice of ensuring that people feel they belonged are engaged and connected. It is a universal human right whose aim is to embrace all people, irrespective of race, gender, disability or other attribute which can be perceived as different. From an ethical point of view, to overcoming disabling barriers and promoting inclusion and the same practice also helps the society to make the conscious decision to operate according to the social value of equality.

INTRODUCTION:

The challenges of education towards 21st century, stress appears when our bodies react to a challenge, mental or physical, by increasing. Success of the nation is determined by the quality of its citizen. Education is the single greatest tool for achieving social justice and equality. Inclusive and equitable education while indeed an essential goal in its own right - is also critical to achieving an inclusive and equitable society in which every citizen has the opportunity to dream, thrive, and contribute to the nation. The education system must aim to benefit India's children so that no child loses any opportunity to learn and excel because of circumstances of birth or background. This Policy reaffirms that bridging the social category gaps in access, participation, and learning outcomes in school education will continue to be one of the major goals of all

The present chapter focus on need for development of language skills and issues in alternative education. The purpose of the study is to investigate the significant difference between language skills and alternative education in terms of learning frustration in the present society. The goal of alternative education is to provide equitable access to education, while also meeting students' basic needs. The learners acquired new knowledge, attitudes and skills or change their present knowledge, skills by the help of the instruction imparted to them through different languages. Therefore, knowledge aspects of the curriculum developer plays vital roles in the process of curriculum designing and select contents depending on the available literature and resources without considering seriously about the demand of changed in alternative educational situations. This implies that the performance of pupils of high language skills ability group is greatly superior to that of the average alternative ability group. After a careful analysis of the study, the investigator is inclined to believe that the skills ability, interest in language, intelligence of the pupil are some of the prime factors which are highly related to the language influencing to a great extent the learning process in the classroom such as language teacher education concerns the education of primary, elementary and secondary school teachers of languages. The ultimate goal of alternative education is to help all students succeed no matter their needs and ease their transition to a traditional school, post-secondary education, career, military, or other ventures. This chapter will outline alternative education and how to implement strategies in all settings.

Introduction:

We are moving towards the 21st century which we believe has lots of thing made in every field possible. Some say the knowledge explosion is at its peak. Some say the place will be filled with technocrats and agencies, some say peace and happiness will return on earth. Assam lies in India's northeast, one of its remotest and most problematic regions. Development often competes with tradition, in predominantly tribal communities that have lived the same lifestyle for thousands of years. In fact traditionally, many of the Northeastern states were independent kingdoms in their own right, until India's independence. So the challenges of education towards 21st century, stress appears when our bodies react to a challenge, mental or physical, by increasing success of the nation is determined by the quality of its citizen. Nation is not built by bricks and mortars but

Abstract

The purpose of the chapter was to stages of value development. To inculcate the values of national integration, equality and brotherhood among all citizens and to help a person grow into a complete human being. While every aspect of man's life has values, education having the greatest impact on man has the greatest value. In the context of education, values have got narrow and also they have wider meanings. Therefore, values influence every aspect of educational process, technique, policy and procedure. Values determine what we should do and how we should do. The choice between two things depends upon the relative value of the things. We always feel interested in those values, which make a difference in our lives and which we can progressively explore and apprehend. It is well said, new occasions teach new duties, and time makes ancient good uncouth. Thus, the highest vales are spiritual and intellectual; the lowest values are material and physical. There is a considerable impact of value education on our domestic life for the better.

Introduction:

Man is a purposive being with an essential nature of approving or disapproving nature, appreciating or depreciating everything that he sees, does and feels. Everything in life makes its multiple impacts upon man for better or worse. Every one of us has needs, urges and aspirations. Anything that fulfils the needs satisfies the urges and helps us in realizing the aspirations, has value. Everything, therefore, is of value or disvalue to man and he has been since the hoary past, making efforts to evaluate as validly and as wisely as he can. Hence man does this valuation every day, nay, every hour of the day and does it throughout life. While every aspect of man's life has values, education having the greatest impact on man has the greatest value. To inculcate the values of national integration and equality and brotherhood among all citizens and to help a person grow into a complete human being. Values, when carefully crafted, are the most powerful tool for personal and professional growth I've seen. Our values motivate us when times get tough; help us face fear and step into action; bring an inner wisdom to decision making; and bring a sense of meaning and purpose to everything we do. A thing has a value if it has, "worthiness to be chosen".

Two short-comings in the scientific approach to values cannot be denied. To value, in the words of John Dewey, means primarily to prize, to esteem, to appraise, to estimate. It means the act of judgment upon the nature and amount of its value as compared with something else. Perry

Abstract

At present this country is passing through a very critical phase. The chapter is written with the purpose of examining the role of education in building a progressive society. Its major theme is the study of Indian education in the light of the peculiarities of the Indian society. It concerns itself with such general topics as meaning as well as problem or role in language and the language as a social system as well as with the problems dealing with organization. However, not very sincere and serious efforts are being made by educationists in this direction. There is thus raging a worst sort of controversy regarding the official language of the union even though the provision is very clear about it. The present chapter investigation is an exploratory one which aims at studying the problem of medium of instruction, the place of regional language etc., is all quite perplexing problems which need immediate solutions.

Keywords: Promotion, Critical Phase, Language, Solutions.

Introduction:

Education is fundamental for achieving full human potential, developing an equitable and just society, and promoting national development of the language. The medium of expression until at least grade five but preferably till grade eight or beyond shall be the student's mother tongue, or the local or regional language. The 'three-language formula' will continue to be implemented in schools, where two of the three languages shall be native to India. The policy seeks to standardize the school curriculum for Indian Sign Language across the country. The language problem is facing many ways or defects in our country. Some of them are negligence towards one's mother tongue, the ignorance of the middle class, the adverse effects of electronic media, immigration, globalization etc. this chapter describes the various problems for utilizing the source knowledge, forms of knowledge etc. and its solutions. Hence regional language or upsurges are in fact various responses to national crises, emanating both from the failure of the existing system and mass discontent against it. It is generally held that education is best imparted through the medium of mother tongue. But such a mother must be well-developed language with rich literature on varied subjects to be a fit vehicle of knowledge. Our mother tongue, language is a well-developed with rich literature. Language is the armoury of the human mind and at once contains the trophies of its past and the weapons of its future conquests.

The language problem has been a perennial trouble-spot in our educational history. The issue is so mixed up with fads and fanaticism and so vitiated with action and reaction over the

Abstract

The present study is focused on the contemporary impact of higher education on the prosperity of the North-East Indian is greatly linked with the prosperity of the rural community or rural population and higher education. This chapter attempt is to the upliftment of the rural society that national efforts should be much intensified and general concept and current scenario in India. This part is the core of chapter, highlighting contribution of higher education institutes, make in India Initiative. Till now the higher education has totally an urban bias. Therefore, the villages have constantly been neglected with the result that the village community had remained at a very low level of subsistence. The fruits of modern technology, sciences as well as the growth of knowledge in other field have not at all touched the village community. It is even today living in mud-houses in the surroundings of dust, dirt and filth etc., hardly any village has any sanitary arrangements. In this system not only universal literacy, compulsory attendance but a higher education for the leader, reformer, and teacher and for creating general consciousness about modern advancement in science is necessary. This effect to a great extent and through the equipment tries to bring reforms in it.

The effort is also to identify the various institutional frameworks which can act as the vehicle to reach the expected outcomes. Last but not the least, reflects on reform, conclusion and recommendations.

INTRODUCTION:

A growing number of countries have achieved the goal of universal primary education and others are moving closer to this goal. Young people who expect to pursue further education and training to improve their chances for employment and higher earnings get benefited from these goals. Higher education plays an extremely important role in promoting human as well as societal well-being and in developing India as envisioned in its constitution a democratic, just, socially conscious, cultured, and humane nation upholding liberty, equality, fraternity, and justice for all. Higher education significantly contributes towards sustainable livelihoods and economic development of the nation. As India moves towards becoming a knowledge economy and society,

Role of Indigenous Knowledge and Popular Culture

ABSTRACT

The present chapter is conducted to explore the role indigenous knowledge and popular culture of north east India. Understanding how people and societies acquire and use knowledge is essential for improving people's lives, especially the lives of the poorest. Human beings gather knowledge basically for two purposes: survival and development. We try to understand and come to grips with the environment in order to survive, and we try to find reasons for our survival that go beyond the intuitive reaction to physical threats. This is in short the basis for all kind of activities which aim at building up knowledge systems. Long before the development of modern science, which is quite young, indigenous people have developed their ways of knowing how to survive and also of ideas about meanings, purposes and values. It has become customary to refer to this kind of knowledge as "indigenous knowledge" or "traditional knowledge", "local knowledge", "traditional ecological knowledge" "ethno-ecology" etc. and it is often seen as a contrast to, or at least as very different from, western ways of generating, recording and transmitting knowledge. The close attachment of indigenous knowledge to nature has enabled local cultures to survive for generations amidst pressures of change popular culture of north east India. The initiatives of the native peoples to respond to the present conditions of the environment provide the dynamic characteristics of the local cultures. The remarkable difference between local cultures and modern science is that the environment and nature shape the development of the former.

Keywords: Indigenous Knowledge, Popular Culture, Environment

Introduction:

The indigenous knowledge is the body of knowledge or natural history built up by a group of people through generations of living in close contact with nature. Indigenous or Traditional knowledge is simple and practical. It links the survival of every human being to the wholeness of nature and its elements that support life. It provides the concrete situations of communities in relation with the environment and provides practical solutions to the problems of the people. Indigenous or Traditional knowledge defines a worldview of people and provides direction for their survival socially, economically, politically and spiritually. It explains the evolution of cultural behaviors that resulted from the efforts of people to adjust to their environment. In cases where

Terrorism and Human Peace with Reference to the NE India

Nawshad Ali Ahmed

Assistant Professor, Sontali Anchalik College, P.O. Mahtoli, Dist. Kamrup, Assam, India

Introduction

Terrorism is, in the broadest sense, the use of intentional violence for political or religious purposes. It is used in this regard primarily to refer to violence during peacetime or in context of war against non-combatants, mostly civilians and neutral military personnel.

Keywords: Terrorism, Terrorist Organisations, Human Peace, North-East India

The terms "terrorist" and "terrorism" originated during the French Revolution of the late 18th century. Terrorism is a charged term. It is often used with the connotation of something that is "morally wrong". Governments and non-state groups use the term to abuse or denounce opposing groups. Varied political organizations have been accused of using terrorism to achieve their objectives. These organizations include right-wing and left-wing political organizations, nationalist groups, religious groups, revolutionaries and ruling governments. Legislation declaring terrorism a crime has been adopted in many states. When terrorism is perpetrated by nationstates, it is not considered terrorism by the state conducting it, making legality a largely grey-area issue. There is no consensus as to whether or not terrorism should be regarded as a war crime.

Terrorist in North-East India

The following groups are some of Terrorist, Insurgent and Extremist groups in North-East India.

- A. United Liberation Front of Asom (Assam) (ULFA) was formed on April 7, 1979, by Bhimakanta Buragohain, Rajiv Rajkonwar alias Arabinda Rajkhowa, Golap Baruah alias Anup Chetia, Samiran Gogoi alias Pradip Gogoi, Bhadrashwar Gohain and Paresh Baruah at the Rang Ghar in Sibsagar to establish a "sovereign socialist Assam" through an armed struggle.
- B. The origin of the Kamtapur Liberation Organisation (KLO) can be traced to the attempts of certain members of the Rajbongshi community belonging to the all Kamtapur Students' Union (AKSU) to organise an armed struggle for a separate Kamtapur State. The objective of the KLO is to carve out a separate Kamtapur State comprising six districts — Cooch Behar, Darjeeling, Jalpaiguri, North and South Dinajpur and Malda — of West Bengal and four contiguous districts of Assam-Kokrajhar, Bongaigaon, Dhubri and Goalpara.
- C. The National Socialist Council of Nagaland – Khaplang (NSCN-K) was formed on April 30, 1988, consequent to an assassination attempt on the General Secretary of what emerged as the rival outfit – NSCN (IM) – Thuingaleng Muivah.
- D. National Socialist Council of Nagaland - Isak-Muivah (NSCN-IM) was formed on January 31, 1980, by Isak Chisi Swu, Thuingaleng Muivah and S.S. Khaplang opposing the 'Shillong Accord' signed by the then NNC (Naga National Council) with the Indian government.

Imru'al-Qais is called the father of Arabic Poetry Study

Dr. Azmal Hoque
Assistant Professor & HoD

Abstract

Imru'al-Qays was an Arabian poet in the 6th century. He was the son of Hujr bin al-Harith who that ruled over the tribes of Asad and Ghatfan and his mother was said to be Fatimah bin Rabi'ah al-Tamimi. He is considered by many Arabic poetry scholars to be the father of Arabic poetry. His Qasidah, "Let me weep" is one of the seven Mu'allaqat or Golden Odes that were hung on the walls of the Kaaba. He was said to be a kind-hearted person. He always hoped for the best not only for himself but also for everyone around him.

Keywords: Arabian, Asad, Ghatfan, Mu'allaqat, and Poet etc.

Introduction

The Present topic is to investigate for the acknowledgement of the Qasida of al-Imru'al-Qays (c. 540 AD – 544 AD) as one of the most influential Poets of Pre-Islamic Arabia for which he was called as the father of Arabic poetry. He was known as the achievement in establishing the prototype of Arabic poetry. His Qasidas were an erotic one. His Qasida is literally known as The Muallaqat or the 'hanging' poem. The Qasidas were written down in golden letters on scrolls of linen and hung on the walls of the Kaaba in Mecca because the poem has a symbolic meaning as if the odes hang in the reader's mind.

In Pre Islamic Arabia era, people disseminated poetries verbally. Imru'al-Qays' works were composed in many different forms by various people. Arabic scholars distrust the authenticity of most of them. Imru'al-Qays is mostly known for a long, complex poem that was included in the Mu'allaqat. Imru'al-Qays' Mu'allaqat contains 82 lines. He can write the most imaginative and descriptive sentences in conventional Arabic. Here is an example of the opening stanzas of his poetry, "The Poem of Imru'al-Qays."

Early life of Imru'al-Qais:

Historians are divided as to the year of Imru'al-Qays' birth, but one estimate is that he was born around 526 AD. He was said to be the youngest of the sons of Hujr, king over the tribes of Asad and Ghatfan. Some historians have pointed out that his father had other wives and concubines than his mother, in accordance with the custom of kings at this time, and it is possible that he received little fatherly attention. He began composing poetry from an early age, an activity that his father strongly disapproved of because

Abstract

Maulna Jalalud-d-Din Rumi was declared that Sufism or tasawwuf receives its light from the Prophet Muhammad (sm). He wrote in detail about Sufism in his great writing Mathnavi in the poetical forms. Jalalud-d-Din Rumi gave a momentum to tasawwuf (Sufism) movement and addressed this issue throughout his teachings. Maulana Jalaluddin Rumi was knowledgeable and spiritual leader of all the times to come. He created pure and purified concept of spirit in the society. The great mystic Sufi philosopher carries out a search of the Sufism and its numerous aspects like love and reason, freewill, belief and destiny, communion with God, Obedience and the difficulty with evil. Rumi considers that everything is not good in universe and he refuses the attitude of quietness on these matters, he also considers that evil a way for us to struggle for a correct path. Rumi says that love has the cure for all the diseases, it can be the only path to know about the God and the absolute truth that is knowing self. This paper explains and defends a divine command account of moral obligations. A divine command account of moral obligations is distinguished from a general theological voluntarism which grounds all moral truth in the divine will, God's commands ground moral duties, but truths about the good are grounded in the nature of God and God's creation.

Key Word: Maulana, Sufism, Mathnavi, Divine, Distinguished.

Introduction

Maulana Rumi was the greatest Persian Poet and Mystic Sufi Philosopher. Now to understand why Rumi was a great Sufi we must first know about what Sufism is, Sufism is the quest for the higher realities, it is the search for the knowledge that is divine, it is the effort to find a personal connection with God and understand the God and his message. From the time man started to think, he is always wondered about where he came from, where he will go, what is the purpose of his existence, what is God and what are the ultimate realities of life. Maulana Rumi did a lot of work and he spent a great time on the very subject. Maulana's work in the form of the six volumes of the Masnavi was to find how can man find the ultimate realities, and how can we experience God to the greatest level. The paper focuses on the motive of truth and its unique representation in the works of Rumi. The present work is also to focus the Sufism in the light of Mathnavi of Rumi. The term "post-truth" appeared and the informational war is going on in the mind of Rumi. He always tries to focus the existence of God. He was completely surrendered himself into the will of God. According to Rumi God is

A Study on the Violence against Women in India

Dr. Azmal Hoque

Assistant Professor

Department of Arabic

Sontali Anchalik College, Mahtoli, Kamrup, Assam

Abstract

Violence against women does not mean only physical violence. It is much broader and includes sexual, emotional, psychological and financial abuse. The National Plan targets two main types of violence against women – domestic and family violence, and sexual assault. ‘The term violence against women means any act of gender-based violence that results in, or is likely to result in, physical, sexual or psychological harm or suffering to women, including threats of such acts, coercion or arbitrary deprivation of liberty, whether occurring in public or private life.’ Violence is a harassment against women by man it may be either physical or sexual. Women are victimized by man at any stage. There are various types of violence happened by men against women like sexual, early marriage, dowry killing, rape, murder, forced prostitution of young girls etc.

Keywords: Violence, physical, sexual, domestic, and dowry etc.

1. Introduction:

Violence against women in India refers to physical or sexual violence committed against Indian women, typically by a man. Common forms of violence against women in India include acts such as domestic abuse, sexual assault, early marriage, murder. Crime against women such as rape, acid throwing, dowry killings, honour killings, bride burning, and the forced prostitution of young girls has been reported in India. Police records in India show a high incidence of crimes against women. Women belonging to any class, caste, creed or religion can be victims of this cruel form of violence and disfigurement. In India, domestic violence towards women is considered as any type of abuse that can be considered a threat; it can also be physical, psychological, or sexual abuse to any current or former partner. In 1961, the Government of India passed the Dowry Prohibition Act making dowry demands in wedding arrangements illegal. However, many cases of dowry-related domestic violence, suicides and murders have been reported. In the 1980s, numerous such cases were reported. In fact in this present topic it will be focused on the violence against women in India.

2. Objectives of the study:

1. To contribute to ending male violence against women and girls.
2. To protect gender based violence and to provide protection to victims of domestic violence.
3. To study the socio-economic and demographic factors which affect the victimization of woman for domestic violence.

A democratic society rests on major pillars of liberty, equality, social justice and fraternity. The Indian constitution is committed to these noble principles. All citizens of the country must get equal opportunities for progress in life. To build up the democratic society, the new generation needs equal educational opportunities. Women constitute almost half the human race. Education has been recognized as an essential agent of social change and development in any society of any country. Therefore, the emphasis with regard to women education should be to equip her multiple role as citizens, housewives, mother, and contributor to family income, builders of new society and builder of the nation. In this study, researcher wants to discuss impact equality opportunity policy for academic women.

Today the scenario has changed in terms of interrelationships and the family dynamics existing within the family. Industrialization, migration, urbanization and westernization have severely affected our value system. These social changes have seriously affected the social context and adjustment of the aged and thereby exposing them to several serious problems. The constitution of India guarantees to all Indian women equality (Article 14), no discrimination by the state (Article 15(1)), equality of opportunity (Article 16), and equal pay for equal work (Article 39(d)). In addition, it allows special provisions to be made by the State in favour of women and children (Article 15(3)), renounces practices derogatory to the dignity of women (Article 51(A) (e), and also allows for provisions to be made by the State for securing just and humane conditions of work and for maternity relief (Article 42).

Abstract

This study highlights major some aspects of Economics of Vegetable Cultivation in relation to New Agricultural Strategies of Assam. This paper presents a study in the areas, where new agricultural strategy is being applied; irrigation facilities are speedily being expanded to assure the adequate water supply. The present investigation is descriptive survey method used. The principal aim is to examine the effect of the during the last 10-12 years, there has occurred a remarkable growth of tube-wells, pump-sets etc. The new agricultural strategy called Green Revolution was initiated in environmental awareness and this paper is an attempt to describe the major research carried out on several new public institutions like national seeds corporation, agro industries corporations, national co-operative development corporation etc. have been set up to promote services to the cultivators at door steps. Moreover, they have been provided with sufficient funds to lend liberal loans to peasants to adopt latest farm technology. The most important achievement of new strategy is the substantial increase in the production of major cereals like rice and wheat. These efforts, which were aimed at making us self-sufficient in food and spread the benefits of green revolution to the other as yet unreached regions, are what is referred to in literature as the new agricultural strategy. There are three goals of agricultural development in India. As per the findings, summarize in more detail these are: (a) achieving high growth by raising productivity; (b) inclusiveness by focusing on lagging regions, small farmers and women; and (c) sustainability of agriculture. The new agricultural strategy involves heavy investment in seeds, fertilisers, pesticides and water, which is beyond the capacity of small and medium farmers. Lastly, the paper describes the various problems for utilizing the farm situation, source knowledge; forms of knowledge and its solutions.

INTRODUCTION:

In ancient time people lived in the midst of natural environment by maintaining harmony and unity with nature. As a result human moved forward through the right way with development and prosperity. In the present times no nation can think of economic development without ensuring an abundant supply of highly educated and skilled people. The recent technology and scientific advancement, the man's conquest over the forces of nature, the invention of rapid means of destruction, the capability of probing deeper down into the personality of individual and the ability to brain-wash have shown that highly educated people in all the activities of national life can only keep the nation politically and economically alive. It was adopted in India during Third Five Year Plan. In 1960, from seven states seven districts were selected and the Government introduced a pilot project known as Intensive Area Development Programme (IADP). Therefore, the most important part of productivity is motivating employees. Motivating employees is a key part of labor productivity, and being motivated and inspired contributes to your personal productivity. There are many ways to foster motivation and increase productivity on a personal level and an organizational level. This is a big economical and fundamental change in the history of agriculture. In the case of glacial gravel, no pesticides are used which is economically more beneficial and obviously higher on nutrition and minerals. Plants fertilized on rock dust produce a

The purpose of the present study is to investigate the significant difference between adjustment and self-concept in relation to anxiety among adolescents with special reference to Goalpara in Assam. The sample consisted of 108 both boys and girls. They were randomly selected from 9th and 10th classes studying in high school from only one district namely- Goalpara in Assam. Sinha and Sinha (1971) "Adjustment Inventory" was used to measure the adjustment among adolescents, Self-concept by Deo (1971) Personality Word List and Anxiety developed by S.P. Kulshrestha (1972) has been used to measure the Anxiety among visual and non-visual impaired adolescents. The t-test and f-test were applied. Results indicate that there is significant difference between visual and non-visual impaired adolescents in terms of school adjustment and anxiety. Thus, high self-concept is low adjusted and high anxiety than self-concept of adolescents. The result indicates that self-concept between the boys and girls students differ statistically significant at 0.05 levels. It is critical observation there are no significant difference between factor of intellect, temperament, leadership, aspiration, mental health and anxiety, socio-economic status character. In case of appearance and grooming secondary school students is less than other factor and not significant.

Introduction

The challenges of education towards 21st century, stress appears when our bodies react to a challenge, mental or physical, by increasing Success of the nation is determined by the quality of its citizen. Nation is not built by bricks and mortars but by the quality of men. It does not require any evidence to say that society and its development are positively correlated to the development of education. Education is a process of development from the cradle to the grave. Man becomes a gentleman through education and he alone can be educated while the other living organisms are trained. While his life is guaranteed by food, it is glorified by education. However, it is an undeniable fact that no community or society or district or state or nation can prosper without having educated manpower. Education is the most powerful instrument for imparting ideal training to the people. Adjustment is also considered a problem for the reason that absent children can not benefit from the education programmed that the school offer. They do not do as well as in school (Galloway, 1980). Anxiety is a product of education and living among significant and is social and human. It is also warning signal. It implies danger from within. It is a warning that one has to do something to make sure that his security does not sink suddenly as a result of the actions of significant people

Abstract

The main purpose of the study has been to identify the constraints of agricultural extension service in Assam in general and that of Goalpara district in particular. Identification of such constraints would obviously help us to suggest measures to be taken by the government as well as by the farmers' adoption of improved innovations. To identify the major factors responsible for not capturing the benefit of non-cereal crops like vegetable by the farmers. To identify the factors that influences the adoption of new agricultural technology by different categories of farmers in the study blocks of Goalpara district in Assam. Basic economic and welfare aspects of farm technological advance pointed out that technological change in agriculture can be divided into three main categories- biological, mechanical, and biological-mechanical. Biological changes affect and create agricultural production functions by improving the fertility of soil and the genetic quality of plants. The high yielding varieties of crop and use of fertilizer and other chemicals represent such technological change. Such a technological change has been found to be particularly suited to development of traditional agriculture. The mechanical type of technological change involves the use of new farm tools and machines. It contributed to an increase in the productivity of labour. It also raised the productivity of land because of better ploughing, transplanting etc. The third type of technological change characterized is biological-mechanical. To study the role of government and government extension services in motivating the farmers to adopt improved technology of production. The suggest measures for accelerating agricultural development by adopting new technology in the region under study. To evaluate the impact of adoption of new agricultural technology on the growth and productivity of agriculture.

INTRODUCTION:

Women are nearly half of the human capital in the society. They also play varied role in the society. Progress and development is human centered process. Without women equal involvement development process at every level will be inadequate. Swami Vivekananda said that "there is no chance for the welfare of the world unless condition of women is improved. It is not possible for a bird to fly only with one wing." Human resource development applies equality to women and men. Education is an important for everyone, but it is especially significant for girls and women. The educational achievement of women can have ripple effect within the family and across generation. Today the scenario has changed in terms of interrelationships and the family dynamics existing within the family. Industrialization, migration, urbanization and westernization have severely affected our value system. These social changes have seriously affected the social context and adjustment of the aged and thereby exposing them to several serious problems. Our educational institutions at all levels are laboring hard for their survival and continuance under serious problems and it is felt that such problems, as exist in these institutions, are a reflection of common problems in the community. ### ABSTRACT

The present investigation is an exploratory one which aims at studying the role of folk culture, Assamese literature and environmental awareness through education in Assam. An analytical study the principal aim of the study is to examine the impact of folk culture, Assamese literature and environmental awareness through education in Assam state. This paper is an attempt to describe the major research carried out on indigenous people and how their knowledge can be utilization for human resource development in India with special reference to Assam and highlights two major aspects of application of human resource development and environmental awareness towards educational development and development of a national language. Linguistic reorganisation has been a mistake. Nevertheless, by developing a common national language, popularising the use of more and more modern Indian language among the people and reforms in the national educational system. Human potential is an essential factor of development. Human beings are to be converted into human resource. Development does not start with goods; it starts with people and their knowledge, skills and abilities. Without these three, all resources remain latent, untapped and potential. Lastly, the paper describes the various problems for utilizing the indigenous knowledge, source knowledge, forms of knowledge etc. and its solutions. Hence regional language or upsurges are in fact various responses to national crises, emanating both from the failure of the existing system and mass discontent against it.

Introduction:

The primordial affiliations are mutually reinforcing, language and religion are particularly, so language may also be a way of reviving primordialism. When marginalisation, displacement and dispossession are defined in ethnic, religious, linguistic, or other terms, the desire for liberation is at once to found a new society. Hence, the longer such movements go on, the more the history of violence becomes part of a cultural inheritance, and the more an obligation for the living...death by violence not only redeems the patrimony, it is the legacy of the young the role of indigenous knowledge for folk culture, Assamese literature and environmental awareness through education. ## A Study on the Practices of the various sources of Islamic Sharia(Law)

Assistant Professor in Arabic

1. Introduction: Islamic Laws are used by Islamic jurisprudence to elaborate the body of Islamic law. Islamic Laws are based on the two sources like primary and secondary sources. The Holy Quran and Sunnah(Hadith) are included in the primary one and Ijma, Qias, Ijtihad etc. are included in the secondary one . Islam is also divided in two parts Sunni and Shia. In Sunni Islam, the scriptural sources of traditional jurisprudence are the Holy Qur'an, believed by Muslims to be the direct and unaltered word of God, and the Sunnah, consisting of words and actions attributed to the Islamic Prophet Muhammad in the hadith literature. In Shi'ite jurisprudence, the notion of Sunnah is extended to include traditions of the Imams. On the other hand deferent kinds of Schools are there in Islamic Sharia. In this present topic it will be focused the primary and secondary sources of Islamic Sharia(Law) with deferent schools of the same.

2.1 Qur'an: A copy of the Qur'an is one of the primary sources of Islamic Sharia. The Qur'an is the first and most important source of Islamic law. Believed to be the direct word of God as revealed to Muhammad through angel Gabriel in Mecca and Medina, the scripture specifies the moral, philosophical, social, political and economic basis on which a society should be constructed. The verses revealed in Mecca deal with philosophical and theological issues, whereas those revealed in Medina are concerned with socio-economic laws. The Qur'an was written and preserved during the life of Muhammad, and compiled soon after his death.

The verses of the Qur'an are categorized into three fields: "science of speculative theology", "ethical principles" and "rules of human conduct". The third category is directly concerned with Islamic legal matters which contain about five hundred verses or one thirteenth of it. The task of interpreting the Qur'an has led to

Introduction:

Globalization is at the centre of diverse intellectual and political agendas, raising ousted questions about what is widely considered to be the fundamental dynamic of our time an epoch defining set of changes, that is radically transforming social and economic relations and contemporary Assamese society in the 21st century. It is an ideology that currently dominate thinking, policy making and political practice. Assamese society of Assamese language & literature has developed tremendously due to the impact of modernity. The modernity education system in Assam is the best among the other states of north-east region. In that period the political and social scenario of Assam was unstable and very less importance was given to education sector. Modern education has to serve as a powerful instrument of social, economic and cultural transformation of the society and to keep pace with the advancement of the modern trend.

The charyapad is taken under consideration to be the first evidence of written literature within the Assamese language. These Padas or couplets were composed by Buddhist monks so on market the ideas and conduct of Buddhism among the common mass. These charyapadas are believed to possess been written between the 8th and 12th century A.D. The unbroken heritage of the Assamese written literature took definite shape

A Case Study of Iliya Abu Madi's Works on Modern Arabic Poetry

Sontali Anchalik College, P.O: Mahatoli, District- Kamrup, Assam-781136 (India)

Abstract

In this paper an attempt has been made to study of Iliya Abu Madi's works on modern Arabic Poetry. The present paper is an exploratory one which aims at studying the role of indigenous knowledge for during the time when Arab countries, especially Lebanon experienced political and economic problems, a group of literary writers wanted to emigrate to other countries such as America, Brazil, Canada in order to enhance the living better than before. Part of this group of literary writers is Iliya Abu Madi who is considered the best poet. Besides, his poetry was taken as the starting point for poems of the modern era. He was affected by political and economic problems therefore immigrated to America and produced many works of exile literature during the time when living abroad, e.g. poetry, short stories, etc. So, Arabic literature has played an important role in revealing the status of environmental awareness in our society. A case study or survey method was adopted for conducting the paper, by the investigator especially for this purpose. The principal aim is to examine the effect of the impact of Iliya Abu Madi's works on modern Arabic Poetry. Lastly, self taught, Iliya Abu Madi is perhaps the most famous poet as well as an outstanding litterateur of the literary period known as Mahjar in Modern Arabic literature. There have been numerous dedicated studies on the life and works of Iliya Abu Madi's on modern Arabic poetry.

Keywords: Modern, Arabic, Poetry, Literature.

Introduction:

Arabic poetry was and still is an essential part of Arab identity. Poetry dated back to the 6th century before Islam came to be a religion. Early Arab writers in America adopted fictional romance and romantic poetry as their literary vehicles. They transformed Arabic literature to a space where rebellious characters and calls for reform could live. Writers, both men and women, used Arabic books and poetry to affect social change and challenge traditional social, cultural, and religious issues dealing with oppressive societies, corrupt churches, gender, and women's role in Arab and American society. Between the beginning of World War I in 1914 and World War II in 1939, Arab writers in the United States ushered in the Romantic era of Arabic literature. Mahjari writers escaped the constraints of classical Arabic prose and poetry and remained their language even as they remained their own identities. They were influenced by romanticism and transcendentalism which featured escapism from the present into a fantastic, mystical world, and a tendency toward nihilism. Arab American poets introduced radical stylistic and thematic innovations including the use of simpler language, looser metrical arrangements, abandonment of classical imagery and themes, and greater freedom for the writer, who was now seen as a visionary or prophet leading the way to social and political reform. Arabic literature has played an important role in revealing the status of environmental awareness in our society.

Iliya Abu Madi was born in 1889 in the Lebanese village of al-Muhayditha, and died in New York in 1957 of a heart failure. He dived into the wreck, as Adrienne Rich said in her landmark poem; Diving into the Wreck, very early on; and it was a real wreck, not a metaphor. His first book of poems appeared when he was about twenty. He titled it 'Tithkar al-madi' (remembering the past), as if he had already grown old and was looking across the chasm of time and space. And, indeed, by that age much had happened to and for him.

Abstract

The present paper aims to prepare a database on an empirical study of Assamese literature and folk culture towards well-being on modern society of Assam. An attempt has been made to study in details the concept of Assamese literature, folk culture and well-being with special reference to Orunodoi. This paper is an attempt to describe the major research carried out on Assamese literature; Sankardeva's contribution to Assamese literature is multidimensional and spread through different genres of literature. The present study explores the main focused on the nature of the colonial and post-colonial state of Assam. Therefore, emerging trends are marked by experiments with post-modernist literary technique and growing fascination of young writers with magic realism and surrealism. In the realm of literary criticism young literary critics of Arendom Borkataki, Bhaskar Jyoti Nath, Debabhusan Borah are exploring different possibilities and ideas to meet the needs in literary criticism. Therefore, the variety described here is representative of colloquial Assamese spoken in the eastern districts of Assam. Particularly, the pre-colonial period of Assam contains various neglected travelogues like the anonymous anthologist.

INTRODUCTION:

Today, we are living in a knowledge based society and global world. The present study was designed to investigate the effect of contemporary Assamese literature in relation to folk culture with special reference to well-being in our modern society of Assam. The present study unexplored the main focused on the Assamese literature has played an important role in revealing the status of folk culture for modernization on attitude in relation to quality education. A survey method was adopted for conducting the paper, by the investigator especially for this purpose and the Era of Shankariera, incorporates the literary works that were produced mostly as pertinent to the Neo-Vaishnavite movement which propagated the Ekasarana Nama-Dharma. In this context of the understanding of the purpose of this theme is to find out remedial measures and to evaluate or to suggest other useful up to date goals that can be attempted in imparting knowledge for the benefit of the learners as a whole. The investigator concluded that a combination of Assamese literature and folk culture with special reference to Goalpara such as Goalpariya Bhawaiyalok geet, melageet etc.

Lifelong learning has emerged as one of the keys to improving the quality of life in the twenty-first century. An initial education is no longer sufficient to enable people to benefit from new opportunities that advances in science and technology bring and other changes in the world of work. There is no doubt that continuing to learn is the key to securing literature and folk culture stability. Literature is a part of folk culture that not only enriches a particular society. Probably the earliest text in a language that is incontestably Assamese is the Prahlada Charitra of the late 13th century poet Hema Saraswati, Banikanta Kakati divides the history of Assamese literature into three prominent eras- early Assamese, middle Assamese and modern Assamese. The antique Assamese folk culture and its varied literature have been contributing a significant task in traditional Assamese society. In this unit, we will discuss folk culture and its various kinds, like Oral literature, customs and traditions and

Introduction:

The history and cultural heritage of each and every community of a place express the composite nature of that place and its greatness. Assam for its reach diversity in religion, language, ethnicity and culture forms a distinct and interesting identity in the history and heritage of India. The modern age of educational history in Assam began with the annexation of Assam with the British Empire in accordance with the treaty of "Yandabu" in (1826). The territory of Ahoms is called Asham in Ain-e-Akbari and Asam in Padshahnaamaa. Assam is apparently the English form of Assam. Again, there are differences of opinion among historians on the origin of the word Asham. So, the term originally been applied to the tract of the country ruled by the Ahom, subsequently used to refer the area under the control of Assam.

History of Koches:

In the new millennium, the education system in Assam is the best among the other states of North-East Region. The modern age of education in Assam began with the annexation of Assam with the British Empire in accordance with the treaty of Yandaboo in (1826). In Brahmaputra valley Koch, formerly, the name, of a tribe, has become a caste which admits proselytizes to Hinduism from ranks of Kocharies and other original tribes. The

Abstract

The study was undertaken to investigate the involvement issues and challenges of Motivation of Post Graduate Students towards to Gender, Faculties and Socio-economic Condition of Assam. The present study was conducted through the descriptive survey method of research used. A sample consists of 400 which represent all the sections of population. It was expected to collected data consisted 400 under the Gauhati University of post-graduate students of different faculties. This paper is concerned with the challenge of enhancing inclusive education in our north-east India. In this chapter we focus on inclusive education in developed and developing areas refer to the broad global differences in economic and political status. High challenge academic tasks invite students to expand the maximum level of effort and encourage students to value the processes of learning. As a result, motivation researchers view high challenge tasks as most beneficial for promoting learning and motivation. Therefore, the 1st hypothesis stated as, 'there was no significant difference in motivational of post graduates students' is significant and fully accepted.

Introduction:

The challenges of education towards 21st century, stress appears when our bodies react to a challenge, mental or physical, by increasing Success of the nation is determined by the quality of its citizen. Nation is not built by bricks and mortars but by the quality of men. It does not require any evidence to say that society and its development are positively correlated to the development of education. The outcome of this study would reveal the role of motivation, gender, economics condition and organizational commitment in determining the level of higher education in Assam with special reference to post-graduate students. Assam lies in India's North-east, one of its remotest and most problematic regions. The present investigation has broad in to light some interesting fact and a significant relationship existing between motivation and gender as well as economics condition of the interims evaluated. Education development in the North - Eastern Region: In keep with the policy of the government, the Department of Secondary Education and Higher Education was able to step up expenditure in the North-Eastern Region (NER) to 12.74 percent during 2000-2001. This is more than the prescribed level of 10 percent. Efforts are on to meet the 10 percent target in the current financial year 2009-2010 as well. Major problems identified in the North-East Region related to lack of trained teachers, lack of skilled manpower, need for more relevant curriculum, especially in view of the large population of educated unemployed in the region, constraints in achieving universal literacy etc.

In fact, there has been considerable improvement in the education scenario of India in both qualitative and quantitative terms. In the emerging global world order, India is trying to position itself as a knowledge driven economy. It has been realized that for bright future country needs to strengthen its education roots first. Owing to this, the central and state governments of India are bringing out policies and regulations that can bring effective and timely changes in the field of education. ## Institutional Best Practice- 2

1. Title of the best practice:

Awareness about biodiversity conservation and documentation among the students and local communities for environmental sustainability.

1.Objectives:

The main objectives:

- To identify causes of threats to biodiversity.
- To sensitize students and local communities about biodiversity related issues.
- To increase awareness about biodiversity conservation among the students.
- To laid emphasize on documentation and preservation of local varieties of crops.
- To preserve all varieties of old and new flora, fauna, and microbes.
- To protect all endangered and rare species.
- To maintain ecological balance for sustainable way of living.
- To ensure proper planning of land use and other natural resources to conserve the biodiversity.
- To create public awareness about sustainable use of the species without affecting the biodiversity.
- To prohibit the hunting, poaching of animals, fishing during breeding period etc., beyond the productive capacity of ecosystem.

3.The Context:

Biodiversity is defined as the variety and variability among all groups of living organisms and the ecosystem in which they live. Biodiversity conservation is the protection, preservation, management, or restoration of wildlife and natural resources such as forests, water bodies, etc. Survival of many species and habitats, which are threatened due to human activities, can be ensured through the conservation of biodiversity. There is an urgent need, not only to manage and conserve the biotic wealth, but also to restore the degraded ecosystems. Humans have been directly or indirectly dependent on biodiversity for their sustenance to a considerable extent. However, increasing population pressure and developmental activities have led to large scale depletion of the natural resources. Biodiversity conservation is meant for management of human activities in the environment so that it does not lead to habitat destruction and loss of biodiversity

4.The Practice:

Sontali Anchalik College Biodiversity Management Committee under guidance of Program Officer of Biodiversity Management Committee(BMC) and in association of ECO-CLUB and NSS Unit is continuing the process of management, conservation and documentation of campus and surrounding biodiversity of Char areas which is to give an extension dimension to the school level to higher education system and orient the students to conserve the biodiversity during their student life. NSS volunteers of our college visited to local panchayats, schools and char villages for aware the students, teachers, cultivators, villagers to conserve and document the local varieties of flora, fauna and agro species in a prescribed format.

The teachers, students and villagers were given orientation about biodiversity conservation and documentation on prescribed formats to be used. The very use of data formats aimed at sensitizing students and communities to biodiversity related issues. Whatever data to be gathered included landscape and waterscape elements, plant and animal diversity as the village community understand, crop diversity, preparations and uses of bio-pesticides, organic farming management, wildlife diversity, human wildlife conflicts, domestic animal diversity, production of honey and apiculture, fish cultivation, milk production etc. About 280 students from 6 high schools and 10 primary schools representing the 6 GPs of Kamrup and Barpeta Districts took part in the biodiversity documentation exercise. Biodiversity documentation covered about 20 villages of the two districts.

5.Evidence of Success:

The evidence of success is noticeable in the change of attitude and point of views of the student volunteers. Students who involved in activities have extensively improved their overall performances. NSS activities provide practical knowledge among the student community and Village community and bring new idea for conservation and documentation of local biodiversity. Their approach of looking the biodiversity forwardly and realizing the problems of loss of biodiversity due to human activities. Students are involving themselves to aware the communities more deeply now. Society is getting benefitted as NSS volunteers and students of college are creating awareness among them for the benefit and importance of local biodiversity conservation and documentation for environmental sustainability. Gradually NSS Volunteers are acquiring skills for mobilizing community participation and they come forward to tackle the problems created by themselves.

6.Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

Just like in every other venture, various problems are encountered in the process of conservation and documentation of our biodiversity.

The problems encountered in the process of conserving our biodiversity include, but not limited to the following:

1.Population Growth: We are in a world of increasing population. The supply of land is constant. So in the event of an unavoidable population increase, this may negatively affect this conservation process

2.Lack of Fund: Money has always been a problem to all human activities. Lack of proper funding could be an impediment to conservation of biodiversity. But the necessary resources needed won't be available and the conservation of biodiversity would have a problem.

3. Deforestation: Cutting of trees due to increasing need of wood and cropping land is a particular problem facing in biodiversity conservation.

4. Need of Increasing Food: Too much use of land for agriculture in Char may lead to destruction of so many flora and fauna. Agriculture is the only way of livelihood of these flood and erosion effected Char people. Increasing agricultural activities is one of the major cause of threat to biodiversity in char.

5. Overgrazing: Overgrazing and over access of common resources is another problem which can also hamper the conservation of forests, water and wildlife biodiversity.

6. Unregulated fishing in rivers, beels during breeding period is the most important cause of loss of local fish varieties.

7. Lack of proper public awareness on the need for conservation and documentation of natural biodiversity. Local farmer communities are ignorant of the benefits of conservation of natural biodiversity, hence they tend to do somethings that are detrimental to wildlife and plants.

8. Government can play very crucial role in protecting biodiversity. Poor govt. support, poor implementation of laws, poor management are as a big issue to proper conservation of natural biodiversity.

Examination Cell

A Report

Examination is one of the most important integral parts of teaching and learning process of every educational institution. For smooth conduct of various examinations, Sontali Anchalik College, Mahtoli, constitute an Examination Cell on 5th November 2018, with Dr. Abul Kalam Azad as Officer In-charge and Dr. MoBA rok Ahmed as Convener. Presently, the Cell has one Officer In-charge, one Convener, three members from teaching faculty and one members from Non-Teaching staff.

The Sontali Anchalik College, Mahtoli, is affiliated to Gauhati University. GU guidelines are strictly followed with respect to evaluation process. There is one Sessional Examination conducted for each semester. The schedules prepared for sessional examination are based on GU academic calendar and the same are communicated to students and faculty through College Notice-Board and other means such Whatsapp, Bulk Messages etc.

To ensure transparency in examination process of the College, a Centre Committee is formed with the following structure.

1. Chairman: President of the Governing Body of the College
2. Secretary: Principal of the College
3. Members:
  - a. Vice-Principal
  - b. Three Teaching staff
  - c. In Charge ,Sontali Outpost, Boko
  - d. Post-Master , Post Office, Chamaria
  - e. One Office Staff of the College

The College has reformed the continuous internal evaluation system from faculty centric to student centric. The College Examination Cell framed guidelines for conducting the Continuous Internal Evaluation (CIE) in line with academic calendar of GU. As per the guidelines, the following reforms have been carried out effectively for conducting CIE.

- 1) Programmes for Internal Assessment Examination, seating arrangements, invigilator list are prepared for every Examination.
- 2) Prepared question papers are scrutinised by HOD and senior faculty members to ensure quality of the paper.
- 4). Monitoring the attendance of the students for the examination
- 5) Internal Assessment has to be carried out within the stipulated time (Class Hour).
- 6) Sessional Examination Programme for all Honors courses are prepared in such a way that it does not hamper normal classes.
- 7) After completion of the Internal Assessment Examination, evaluated answer scripts are distributed to student clarification of doubt or re-correction. Marks secured by student in Sessional Examination are displayed on the notice board of respective department.
- 8) Upload of Internal Assessment marks in GU web Portal.
- 9) The evaluation for project is assessed by conducting periodical project reviews covering key parameters like project presentation skills, communication of ideas, technical knowledge and team work by respective department.
- 10) Performance of the students in Internal Assessment is used for faculties to identify slow and advanced learners in their respective subjects. Slow learners are encouraged to improve their performance in future by conducting Internal Examination and counselling.

Examination Cell has one room installed with CCTV, one computer, one printer, one inverter, two almira, three tables, one fire extinguisher and various examination related materials to ensure smooth conduct of various examinations.

During nation-wide lockdown period due to COVID-19 pandemic, all examination related information such as filling up of Semester Examination form, submission of internal assessment marks, practical marks, are circulated through Examination Whatsapp Group and Bulk messages. Examination Cell provides guidelines and help to student to prepare for online OTBE (Open Text Book Examination). Notices pertaining to examination matter are served on college Notice-Board as well as through online mode such as Whatsapp, Bulk messages for both faculty and students. Some of the Notices served for different purposes are listed as below:

5. Guidelines for Setting of Question Papers for Sessional examinations.
6. Submission of Question Papers, Internal Assessment Marks, Practical Marks.
7. Invigilator duty list for every examination.
8. Notice to identify slow learners.
9. Programmes for Sessional Examination, Practical Examination and Final Examination.
10. Submission of Assignment.
11. Form Fill Up for final Examination.
12. Correction of subject Code in Admit Card

13. Collection of Admit Card

To conduct Examinations smoothly during pandemic period, Examination Cell play an active role in extending help to student through various possible means. The Cell extends help by reaching out to students through whatapps, attending call from student etc. The cell provides proper guidelines to appear OTBE in online mode. Proper training pertaining to OTBE was also given to both students and faculty. Short Video was also prepared by the cell for students with regard how to download question papers, submit scanned answer scripts, etc.

The report of examination Cell for academic period of 2019-2022 has been summarised through the following tables.
